Interrogations or Questions

There are different ways of asking questions. Let's take a look at the different types of questions and deal with Tag Questions in detail:

1. 'Yes' or 'no' Questions or Polar Questions

These questions expect or elicit a response of either 'yes' or 'no'. 'Yes-no' questions begin with 'be verbs', 'do verbs' and 'have verbs' or with modal verbs. They can be framed in both positive and negative forms.

Generally, people tend to make mistakes in answering 'Yes' or 'No' to a negative question. For instance,

"Did you not attend the function last week?"

"Yes, I did not." (wrong response)

"No, I did not."(right response)

Here, two negatives do not neutralise each other, but only emphasize the point or the message if the person has attended the function, the answer will be: "Yes, I did."

2. 'Wh' Questions or Information Questions

These questions are framed to seek some sort of information. They begin with 'What, When, Where, Who, Why, Which, Whom, Whose and How. For e.g. What are your plans for this weekend? / Whom do you want me to meet there? / How long should I wait for you? / When will you be able to complete this work? / Why does your father travel to UK quite often?
