Implied Conditions and Warranties

In every contract of sale, there are certain expressed and implied conditions and warranties. The term implied conditions means conditions which can be inferred from or guessed from the context of the contract. Following are the implied conditions:

Implied Conditions

1. Conditions as to Title

In the case of sale, seller has a right to sell the goods. The buyer can assume that the seller has a right to sell the goods. eg. 'R' purchased a motorcar from 'D' and used it for 4 months. Later after six months, true owner came and proved that he is a true owner. In this case, 'R' has to return the car to the true owner and claim the full price paid by him from 'D'.

2. Conditions as to Description

In a contract of sale by description, there is an implied condition that goods supplied should agree with the descriptions made by the seller. eg. 'A' has bought a machinery from 'B' who described it to be just one year old. After buying the machinery and using it for a month, 'A' came to know that it is very old machinery. In this case, 'A' can return the machinery to 'B' on the ground that machinery is not as per the description i.e. not recent one.

3. Sale by Sample

Where goods are sold by showing samples by the seller eg. foodgrains, cloth, medicine, chemicals etc., the bulk of goods supplied by the seller should be similar to the sample shown by the seller. In other words, where the goods supplied do not match with the samples; the buyer can very well return the goods subject to the following conditions:

1. The bulk of the goods must correspond with the sample in quality
2. The buyer should have a reasonable opportunity of comparing the bulk with the sample and
