

15. Spoiled food

- Spoilage is a process in which food deteriorates such that its quality of edibility is reduced.
- Food poisoning may result on eating contaminated or spoiled food.
- Foods spoil due to attacks from enzymes, oxidation and microorganisms.
- These include bacteria, mold, yeast, moisture, temperature and chemical reaction.

XII_Micro_Biology_Practical_Manual.indd 314 15-04-2019 17:13:33